NOTE AND COMMENT.

Without doubt the most important question before the voters of New Hampshire this fall is the one relating to the liquor traffic. Day in and day out the papers teem with the subject. All do not think alike. It is well-known, of course, that prohibition does not prohibit. Many take the stand that it is wrong to license an evil, while others claim that it is better to control the traffic by law as it will lessen the sale of vile liquors and drugs owing to the fact that thousands of people who desire stimulants would partake of beer and light ales if they could procure them as easily as they can liquor under prohibition. Alonzo Elliott of Manchester, one of the leading business men of that city, takes this ground. He is a temperate man himself and believes that the cause of temperance would be promoted if a high license and local option law could be enacted.

Mr. Elliott's views are shared by thousands of good and true men.

In a letter to the Burlington Free Press, the Rt. Rev. A. C. A. Hall, bishop of Vermont, says:

"You are good enough to ask my opinion on the prohibitory law, and in particular that I would specify the considerations which led me in my letter to Mr. Clement to speak of its 'folly and mischief.' Briefly my grounds are these:

"1. Experience has shown me that the law does not prohibit, I myself, have had to deal with repeated cases of drunkenness, some of them habitual, unaltered, and, to a certain extent, I believe provoked by the existing law. Election day in Burlington (when, if ever, the unaltered might expect the law to be enforced) presents ocular demonstration of the failure of the law.

"2. Prohibition drives underground the mischief which it seeks to cure, making it more difficult to deal with the evil, and impossible to regulate the trade, as for instance in the quality of the liquor sold.

"3. The present law leads, I believe, in many cases to heavier drinking, and at the same time, liquor being purchased in larger quantities than would be the case if it were possible to purchase at a restaurant a glass of wine or beer.

"4. Especially perhaps among the young, prohibition provokes resistance. Stolen drinks, not only water, seem to possess added sweetness.

"Of course, if all use of what may be intoxicants, and for medicinal purposes, were in itself wrong, these two considerations (3 and 4) would be of no weight.

"5. Few persons, I suppose, with any knowledge of its actual working would deny that the law, as it exists, is connected with a vast amount of hypocrisy, in the part of buyers, sellers and officials.

"May not this hypocrisy, being a deeper and more widespread evil, be a greater mischief than the intemperance which it is sought to check?

"6. Prohibition, by many of its earnest advocates, is connected with the notion that all use (save for medicinal purposes) of drink, that in excess may be intoxicating, is wrong. The use of such drink is, in itself, no more wrong than the use of tobacco. In either case it is the misuse which we have to guard against. Doubtless, with many persons, total abstinence (from wine or tobacco) may be safest and best. To attempt to enforce this on all persons is to manufacture an artificial sin, with the risk of leading many persons to think lightly of what is absolutely wrong (for instance, drunkenness) because they have come to recognize that there is no real sin in what they themselves have been taught to regard as equally wicked.

The Bureau of Engraving and Printing is now working over time to supply the small notes required by the flourishing condition of the country--Wolfeboro News.

It would please us greatly if the Bureau would send us their out put of notes for the coming week, as the amount might be sufficient to enable us to purchase a few hundred weight of coal.

The Laconia Democrat is to interrogate Belknap County nominees for the Legislature, and is to support only those who will pledge themselves to vote for a license law, with local option.

The spectacle of State after State in 1902 nominating Roosevelt for President in 1904 is a curious one, and something of a new thing in American politics.

COMMUNICATION

To the Republicans of Meredith:

Pained and disgusted by the working of the existing prohibitory laws as exemplified in our town of Meredith, and in the surrounding towns and in the state of New Hampshire, and believing that action will be taken at the next session of the General Court, looking to the control of the liquor traffic and hoping that new laws will be made, either high license with local option or some method corresponding to the Norwegian method, or the South Carolina plan, at least a law differing from our present statute, which for forty years has met with the approval of liquor dealers, made New Hampshire's prohibition laughing stock for New England, and heartily in accord with the sentiment now being placed before the people of the state by Gen. Stephen H. Gale, Alonzo Elliott and others, and I find the home people largely interested in the question.

While pulpits and organizations have attempted to enforce the present law, the dealers have laughed and avoided the prosecution through one of the many loopholes provided and have continued to ruin business, homes and lives. As new laws will be framed upon this question and believing that a change should be made for the better (it cannot be for the worse) it is necessary that representatives to the legislature be interested to effect such action. Believing that a large number of our townspeople desire such reform I take this means of declaring myself a candidate for the nomination for Representative to the General Court upon the issue of the liquor traffic. Looking towards the betterment of the people of Meredith and New Hampshire.

Yours sincerely,

EDWIN C. MANSFIELD.

MEREDITH

Dear Sir: Devote lead and zinc not only goes further than mixed paints--except lead and oil, the only paint that covers as well--but is full measure.

Few paints, that are sold by the can, are full measure; generally they are about ten per cent short. The same is true of almost everything--Factory weights and measures are almost always short.

Lead and oil is an honest paint; the only objection to it is its chalking off in three years.

Devote lead and zinc neither chalks nor peels, but lasts twice as long as lead and oil.

Yours truly,

APPLES!

For many years we have handled large quantities of apples and expect to do so this year.

We hope some time to see a co-operative apple packing establishment in this section so that our apples may be put up uniformly and command a reputation the same as our creamery butter has. The main trouble with apples is in the packing. The very best apples can be about ruined by improper handling and packing. For the benefit of the farmers we offer the following suggestions: Put nothing but perfect apples in your No. 1's and nothing that will go through a 2 1/2 inch hole. Then be sure to have your barrels all cleaned thoroughly and nails all knocked out. It is a good idea to wash the barrels and dry them before packing the apples, putting a piece of paper next the head. Be sure and face them stems downward. Shake the barrel 3 or 4 times vigorously while filling, and be very careful not to bruise them when packing in. Fill barrels about one inch above chime, and then use a screw press and put the heads right in solid. If you will follow these instructions and see us before you sell your apples, we will guarantee you will get the top market price.

NOTE AND COMMENT.

Some people in Vermont laughed when Clement was elected, that he would run as an independent candidate on a high license platform. It tickled the republican managers immensely, at least they claimed it did. But when the votes were counted and it was seen that McCullough, the machine candidate, had secured only about 28,000, and that Clement was only about 4,000 behind, the artistic machine managers suddenly realized that the people are the people when they want to be. History often repeats itself. There is going to be something doing in New Hampshire in November. Putney has the republican managers by the nose, but the voters' noses are out of range. Alonzo Elliott will be heard from during the campaign now in full swing; and election day in New Hampshire may furnish as great a surprise and consternation in certain circles as did the recent Vermont election.

So far as the question is concerned the following, slightly adapted from Lowell's "Bigelow Papers" may not be wholly inapplicable:
"Henry M. Putney is a dreadful smart man. He's been on all sides that give place or pet. But consistency still was a part of his plan. He's true to one party, and that is himself."

Manchester Union.

The numerous suggestions that the farmers of Northern New England hurry shipments of cordwood to Boston are worthy of endorsement.—Boston Globe.

The suggestions are all right, but the trouble is the farmers haven't the wood. Very few localities have sufficient to supply local demands.

The Legislature of 1903 will have a membership of 393, a loss of seven from the total of the last body. Twenty-six towns will be unrepresented. One hundred and ninety-one towns will have one representative each, 40 two representatives each, 20 three representatives, 2 six representatives, 1 seven and 1 eight.

Manchester's leading Republican daily, the News, is supporting the candidacy of Alonzo Elliott of that city for Governor on a license platform. And it is doing it in a vigorous manner. The News is comparatively a young daily, but is gaining in popularity every day. Its rapid success shows what can be done by push and energy.

Clement denies that he has given up the fight for the Vermont governorship. He is in it until the votes are counted in the Legislature. There are strong indications that the same state of affairs may exist in New Hampshire. It has occurred before. Elliott clubs are being organized all over the state and Hollis is working like a tiger. Surely, it is better thus. The old New Hampshire style of politics has become tiresome, and the new order of things will be a welcome change. When it becomes an established fact that no one political party has a claim in New Hampshire politics the handful of men who now run the show to please themselves will pause and deliberate before they attempt to override the wishes of the people.

Up, up, goes the price of wood and coal, and down, down, goes the chances of Republican success in the coming elections, unless there comes a tremendous change in the situation before November.—Portland Times.

According to the Manchester Mirror, Batchelder is elected now, but how about November 4? The votes are not counted until evening. There's dissatisfaction in the air, Brother Putney, we breathe it everywhere.

A Typical South African Store.

O. R. Larson, of Bay Vista, Sundayburg, Cape Colony, conducts a store typical of South Africa, at which can be purchased anything from the proverbial "needle to an anchor." This store is situated in a valley nine miles from the nearest railway station and about twenty-five miles from the nearest town. Mr. Larson says: "I am favored with the custom of farmers within a radius of thirty miles, to many of whom I have supplied Chamberlain's remedies. All testify to their value in a household where a physician's advice is almost out of the question. Within one mile of my store the population is perhaps sixty. Of these, within the past twelve months, no less than fourteen have been absolutely cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. This was surely a record." For sale by Geo. F. Sanborn.

Married, recently, in New Hampton, Helen Gordon and Claudius B. Harrell.

GOES LIKE HOT CAKES.

"The fastest selling article I have in my store," writes druggist C. T. Smith, of Davis, Ky., of King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, because it always cures. In six years of sales it has never failed. I have known it to save sufferers from throat and lung diseases, who could get no help from doctors or any other remedy." Mothers rely on it, best physicians prescribe it, and C. W. Morrison will guarantee satisfaction or refund price. Trial bottles free. Regular sizes, 50c. and $1.

A dam is being built at Tilton to replace one built over a hundred years ago.

Old People Have Their Troubles

Mr. Francis Little of Benton Harbor, Mich., is over eighty years of age. Since 1865 he has been troubled more or less with indigestion and constipation and has tried almost everything in use for these ailments. Last August he began using Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets and was soon feeling much better. In a recent letter he says, "I have used three boxes of the Tablets and now think I am well." These Tablets improve the appetite and invigorate the stomach, liver and bowels. For sale by Geo. F. Sanborn, druggist.

Keene has a mystery. The body of an infant child found in Beaver brook.

Stricken with Paralysis.

Henderson Grinnett, of this place, was stricken with partial paralysis and completely lost the use of one arm and side. After being treated by an eminent physician for quite awhile without relief, my wife recommended Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and after using two bottles of it he is almost entirely cured.—Geo. R. McDonald, Man, Logan county, W. Va. Several other very remarkable cases of partial paralysis have been effected by the use of this liniment. It is most widely known, however, as a cure for rheumatism, sprains and bruises. Sold by Geo. F. Sanborn, druggist.

Low Rate Crawford Notch.

October 8, 1902

The name "Crawford Notch" brings to the mind of the mind of the mountaineer a wild, beautiful picture, a rocky craggy passage between high mountain ledges where roaring cascades, silver streams and leaping waterfalls dash recklessly on like an endless phantasm. During the month of October it is particularly inviting, the beautiful and mottled foliage of red, green and yellow giving a decidedly picturesque and handsome effect to this noted position of New Hampshire's White Hills.

A good opportunity to visit this section is on October 8th, when the Boston & Maine Railroad will run an excursion to Bartlett, N. H., in the Crawford Notch from Concord, N. H., and intermediate stations to Livermore Falls at a very low rate.

For time of special train at stations and rates, see Boston & Maine posters.

Look with horror on skin eruptions, blotches, sores, pimples. They don't have them, nor will anyone, who uses Bucklen's Arnica Salve. It cures the face. Eczema or salt rheum vanish before it. It cures sore lips, chapped hands, chilblains. Infallible for piles. 25c at Morrison's drug store.

Edwin L. Horton of East Steamburg, N. Y., a veteran of the Fourth N. H. Vols., attended the reunion at The Weirs and has not since been seen. It is feared that he has wandered away and become bewildered as he was to have met his son at Canaan immediately after the reunion.

HIS LIFE IN PERIL.

"I just seemed to have gone all at pieces," writes Alfred Bee, of Walford, Tex., "biliousness and a lame back had made life a burden. I couldn't eat or sleep and felt almost too worn out to work when I began to use Electric Bitters, but they worked wonders. Now I sleep like a top, can eat anything, have gained in strength and enjoy hard work." They give vigorous health and new life to weak, sickly, and down people. Try them. Only 50c. at Morrison's drug store.

PERMANENT MUSCULAR STRENGTH.

There is this to be borne in mind in these days when so many young men are giving so much attention to physical development, in gymnastic and athletic exercises, that there cannot be permanent muscular strength where there is not blood strength.

Hood's Sarsaparilla gives blood strength, promotes digestion and assimilation, and builds up the whole system.

Sick Headaches and Dizzy Spells, Weak, Nervous, Wretched, Tired, Until Dr. Miles' Nervine Cured Me.

Are you an "over condition"? Are you almost ready to give up from exhaustion, nervousness, headaches, backaches, and dizzy spells? No one to mention the details of a run down or "poor condition" to those who are suffering. Better to tell you of Nervine, the remedy sold on a guarantee to help you, and restore your worn-out nerves to life, strength and health.

"Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine has done a great deal for me. In the fall of 1897 my health was in a very poor condition. Extreme nervousness, dizzy spells and sick headaches made me miserable. I had been under the care of our local physician for some time, but got no better. I was on the verge of nervous prostration. Had no appetite, could not sleep, I grew worse as the dizzy spells continued and lost flesh and strength. Oh! those awful days. I felt that I had lost my mind. Restorative Nervine advised me to try it. I bought a bottle of the drug store and when it was one-half gone I noticed that the medicine was helping me. I continued taking it according to directions until I had used three bottles when I felt much better. I stopped taking it. I feel that my nervous system is all right due to Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. I am grateful for the benefit I received and recommend the Nervine highly to my friends as a nerve tonic and restorative."—Mrs. P. M. Houghton, Dalton, Mass.

OUT OF DEATH'S JAWS.

"When death seemed very near from a severe stomach and liver trouble, that I had suffered with for years," writes P. Muse, Durham, N. C., "Dr. King's New Life Pills saved my life, and gave perfect health. Best pills on earth and only 25c at Morrison's drug store."

Elbridge G. Folsom, an old and respected citizen of Lincoln, died Sept. 15, aged 76 years. He was born in Gifford and was the youngest of the three sons of Benjamin Folsom.

Her Fatal Mistake.

"Darling," he cried, catching her in his arms, "why do you weep? I have just been to see mamma," she sobbed.

"There, there, pet," he said, stroking her silky tresses, "don't worry. What if your parents do refuse to forgive us? I am young and strong. I will win my way. I will be rich for your sake, I will."

"Isn't that," she broke in, "Mamma says if I had only gone to her it would have been all right—that they would have given their consent. And think of the wedding I might have had!"

Then she wept again as if her poor heart would break.—Chicago Record-Herald.

BEWARE OF THE KNIFE.

No profession has advanced more rapidly of late than surgery, but it should not be used except where absolutely necessary. In cases of piles, for example, it is seldom needed. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cures quickly and permanently. Unequalled for cuts, burns, bruises, wounds, skin diseases. Accept no counterfeits. "I was so troubled with bleeding piles that I lost much blood and energy," says J. C. Phillips, Paris, Ill. "DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cured me in a short time." Soothes and heals. C. W. Morrison.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Gilman, Milton, observed the 15th anniversary of their marriage by giving a reception to the members of Harmony lodge, I. O. O. F., and Granite Hill Rebekah lodge.

A Sad Disappointment.

Ineffective liver medicine is a disappointment, but you don't want to purge, strain and break the glands of the stomach and bowels. DeWitt's Little Early Risers never disappoint. They cleanse the system of all poison and putrid matter and do it so gently that one enjoys the pleasant effects. They are a tonic to the liver. Cure biliousness, torpid liver and prevent fever. C. W. Morrison.

The Order of Succession.

"Of course," said the bachelor, thoughtfully, "there can be no such thing as joint rule in a family. Some one must be the head."

"True, but the baby gets its text."—Chicago Post.

8 Cents

Eight cents a pound is what a young woman paid for twelve pounds of flesh.

She was thin and weak and paid one dollar for a bottle of Scott's Emulsion, and by taking regular doses had gained twelve pounds in weight before the bottle was finished.

Eight cents a pound is cheap for such valuable material. Some pay more, some less, some get nothing for their money. You get your money's worth when you buy Scott's Emulsion.

We will send you a little free.

DISEASED STOMACHS

How They Weaken the Mind and Body.

With a diseased stomach "a diseased digestive organs, no man or woman can hope to enjoy good bodily health, or have a healthy, active brain.

The digestive organs are the only source from which the brain, nerves, muscles and body receive their nourishment, and the moment any one of these organs fails to perform its work some part of the body must suffer.

We are constantly hearing of this or that person being troubled with indigestion, nervous prostration, gastritis, sour stomach, nervous dyspepsia, diarrhoea, and in some cases out of ten, these conditions are supposed by the sufferer to be the disease in themselves.

This mistake alone is undoubtedly responsible for every death and suicide caused by dyspepsia, for all the above mentioned conditions are merely symptoms of diseased digestive organs, and the patient has tried to cure these symptoms instead of the diseased organs themselves.

Unfortunately every manufacturer of dyspepsia cures has hesitations made this same mistake, tried to relieve these symptoms by digesting the food in the stomach, and according to medical authorities this mistake alone is responsible for the total wreck, both mentally and physically, of so many persons afflicted with this disease.

Drugs and digestive ferments do not and cannot digest food. They only decompose it, and the decomposition of food destroys all its nourishing qualities. Is it any wonder then that the medical profession and public in general have received the new vegetable remedy, MI-O-XA, with open arms?

MI-O-XA is the only remedy that has for its sole object the restoration of the diseased organs to their normal condition and its effects are truly wonderful to those who, for years, have endeavored to find relief from their sufferings.

It requires but a few days' treatment with MI-O-XA to rid the most confirmed dyspeptic of these disagreeable symptoms. In a very short time his stomach is digesting the food as nature intended and extracting from it all that nourishment which is necessary to make strong muscles, steady nerves, and healthy, active brain.

HONESTY IS REWARDED.

Chicago Woman Gives a Whole Dime to the Man Who Returned $40,000 to Her.

A Chicago woman lost a bag containing papers and currency valued at $40,000 the other afternoon and when they were returned to her she rewarded the finder with $300.00.10. He was unable to reply or to learn her name before she hurried away, but later he recovered from the shock and placed the dime in a gilded frame.

The woman who lost the bag was nervous, middle-aged and dressed in black. She left the bag on a seat in a South Side elevated car. It contained $119 in cash, besides mortgages amounting to $40,000. The man who found it was Charles A. Stuckrath, a guard on the Union loop at Madison street and Fifth avenue.

At five o'clock in the afternoon Stuckrath, passing through the car, espied the portemonnaie and picked it up. When he saw what was in it he notified the officials of the road. About six o'clock the owner of the lost property entered the general office of the Union loop in the Fisher building and excitedly told of her loss. She was referred to Stuckrath and hurried to his station.

"I think it may be yours, madam," said the guard when she had described her loss, "but you must first identify it."

"It is mine! Oh, I'm so glad!" she said when she had proved ownership. Then she took a tight grip of the bag, calmly opened it and carefully selecting a dime from within its folds gave the coin to the guard.

GAVE HIM A DIME.

"KINDLY OMIT FLOWERS."

Too late to bring your fragrant offering
Of tulips, lilies, or myrtle for my bier
When I am dead! To-day your tributes
I need them now!

Waste no laurels on my deafened ear
Nor lay choice flowers within my hand.
Your tardy meed of praise I shall not hear.
Nor understand.

To pile a wealth of flowers upon my mound,
Or speak the kindly words you should have said,
Will be but mockery—a hollow sound
When I am dead.

Go take your offerings to hearts that throb,
To aching souls with pain and grief
distracted,
In homes where dark'ning shadows grow
and fall,
And flowers bloom not.

"Omit the flowers!" The bloom of aches and grief
Leave not upon my grave to wither
there.
These demonstrations of your love I shall not see.
Nor know, nor care.

Pray, do not economize, or make a feeble
To it an aureole round my head,
Or tag my play with virtues of a saint.
When I am dead.

When the last words are spoken: "Dust to dust."
And the last trumpet you leave me
to wait.
My strange behest you will not then trans-Repudiate.

Not for the dead are blossoms from earth's bowers.
The simplest rites are ever the most fit.
But orientation, eulogy and flowers
"Kindly omit."

The Kidnapping of Eliza Ann

By MARY ISABEL BOYNTON.

SHE was not very sick, little Rose Mary, only enough to be kept in bed and have her playthings, and she was the one object around which the whole family revolved. Yet her throat felt "horrid," and was certainly uncomfortable, with fold upon fold of flannel around it, wet with an ill-smelling something from a queer green bottle grandma had.

And Rose Mary grew tired, and a little cross, with the putting on of the flannel, for grandma drew it so tight she could not swallow, and Aunt Myra who was kind but over-cares, fixed her pricking her neck because she could not quite see where pins ought to go. Then mamma, with her soft cool hands, fixed it just right. Still the throat did not get better, and Rose Mary's voice grew quite queer and hoarse, and a tiny red spot appeared on each cheek, so papa sent for Dr. Mason.

He came, looked into her throat, laughed at the flannel and ill-smelling something from the queer green bottle, and left her some medicine that did not taste so very nasty, after which she had a spoonful of grandma's grape jelly. And the throat began to feel better, though the doctor said she must stay snug and warm in bed the whole week through.

The first Rose Mary had all her dolls

AND THERE WAS ELIZA ANN, on the bed, but one by one she sent them back to the doll house, until only Eliza Ann was left. Eliza Ann was only four inches long, a somewhat battered china doll.

One day when Rose Mary was coming from school she saw a rag-picker's cart by the roadside with one wheel off, and the rags strewn about the gutter. She stood and watched the man mend his cart, pick up his rags and drive off, and as she was turning to go away down in the gutter, where the rags had fallen thickest, she found Eliza Ann.

Rose Mary clasped her treasure tight in her chubby hand and hurried home, and from that hour Eliza Ann was the best beloved of all her dolls. She slept with her, she carried her to school, safe in the depths of a spacious pocket; she was sometimes even smuggled to church in the same way.

During school hours Rose Mary never played with her, and never in church, only it was a comfort to run her hand into her pocket and feel her beloved Eliza Ann near.

Now it so happened at this particular time that Eliza Ann had a bad throat, and had a tiny flannel band around it, with a drop on it from the big, queer, green bottle. Tom, who was two years older than Rose Mary, and was being kept from school by a sore toe, put grandma's spectacles on and played he was the doctor, coming a great many times each day to see Eliza Ann, looking wise and grave, for Dr. Tom considered Eliza Ann a very sick doll indeed.

KIDNAPED!

"Ten Cent Reward!"

"Stolen from her home Thursday forenoon, a little china doll. Four inches tall. Black hair. Blue eyes, one most washed off. Piece proker off left hand. Had sore throat with flannel round it. Name, Eliza Ann Allen. All information to be sent to Detective Thomas B. Allen, Esq."

Then, Tom went about dodging his head mysteriously when asked questions. Rose Mary dried her tears, and things looked more cheerful, as how could it be otherwise with so smart a person as Detective Thomas B. Allen, Esq., working on the case? But noon came, and two o'clock came, and yet there was no news of Eliza Ann. Rose Mary's face grew longer and longer while Tommy, the less he knew, the wiser he looked. If only his toe was well, he and Charlie Gay would find the kidnaper! And the thought of the dire fate that would be theirs made Rose Mary shudder. However, the toe wasn't well, and Charlie Gay was away, and Eliza Ann was not found. So matters stood at three o'clock, and Tommy was hinting to Aunt Myra that a larger reward might be necessary, when mamma cried: "Why! Here comes Dr. Mason again!"

He came into the house, past mamma, and Aunt Myra and grandma, straight up to Rose Mary's bed, and opened his medicine case, and there was Eliza Ann!

"Try! Wherever did you find Eliza Ann?" Rose Mary cried.

"In my medicine case," said the doctor, "the very next house I visited after leaving here, and I brought her back the first chance I had. How she got there is a mystery to me."

"The case must have been open when I tried Eliza Ann's coat on," Aunt Myra said. "You know, I cannot see very well, and I must have dropped her in the case instead of on the bed and nobody noticed!"

Then Rose Mary told the doctor how badly she had felt, how Tommy had become a detective and how very, very glad she was to have her darling Eliza Ann back again.

"And Dr. Mason won the reward!" Tommy cried.

The doctor read the notice and shook his head. "I will divide the reward between you and Rose Mary," he said, "because it is a very peculiar case. You see the kidnaper discovered himself!"—Boston Globe.

The equinoctial storm, which set in last spring and continued all summer, is with us still. The weather clerk who has charge of the wet goods department stands at the head of his class. He's all right—in his own line. Last Saturday it certainly seemed as if he intended to bring on a second deluge, regardless of the rainbow yarn, but on Sunday he let up slightly, only to make up Monday. It didn't rain.
It simply fell in torrents all day.

Say, wife,
I have just been Helping
A Farmer out of
A mud hole
Down the Road, there.
Had the nicest
Load of Meats I Ever Saw in my Life—
Beef,
Pork,
Mutton,
Ham,
Sausage, and Goodness only Knows
What he Didn't have.
Said he Got them
At T. B. Choate's
Market.
Says he
Can get no such
Goods and prices
At
His town.
I've heard
So much about
That store—
About its Cheap prices
And the good
Quality of meats
Sold there
That I have Concluded we'll
Go there tomorrow
And do our Trading.
You get the Butter and Eggs ready
And I'll Round up
Them young
Roosters
And we'll Start early.
By jinks!
That feller's Story has Excited me.
Let's get Ready
And be Off by
Sun up
Tomorrow
Morning.
Here's one
Of their Billheads.
Yes, that's
The name,
T. B. Choate & Co.,
Meredith, N. H.
Don't lose that Name. Now
By jinks, if
That feller
Has told the Truth
It's worth
Money to us.
Well,
Here goes
For them
Roosters.
